

Rain In West Brings Relief From Heat, But Does Little For Crops

Dwindling Corn Yield Forecast Comes From Important Belts; Severe Forest Fire Takes 3 Lives in Montana.

SURVEYORS LOST

Victims Were Members of U. S. Geological Survey Party; One Man Is Missing.

Chicago, July 28 (AP).—Scattered showers brought widespread relief to the heat-harassed midwest today. Rain—too light to break the crop-killing drought in most areas, but substantial in others—fell in parts of the lower Missouri, middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska and western South Dakota.

Fresh precipitation was indicated for today in the southern sections of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Kansas and for tomorrow in parts of the arid Dakotas and western Minnesota.

Conder weather spread over most of Kansas, Nebraska, Ohio and Iowa and the northern portions of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

Forecasts of dwindling yields came from important corn belt states. Federal Agricultural Statistician L. M. Carl figured from 80 to 90 percent of the crop was ruined in 20 counties along the western and southern borders of Iowa.

Statistician W. M. Ebling reported Wisconsin's corn had been irreparably damaged.

"Extremely spotted conditions" were noted in Illinois by Statistician A. J. Suratt.

Kansas' weekly report held early corn would make no more than fodder, while late corn and alfalfa were termed on the verge of ruin.

Corn prices moved upward in the markets as pessimism grew. The corn belt farm dailies, publishers of several farm journals, issued a statement pointing to the "dollars" still in the fields. It said:

"The June government report indicated a wheat crop of 681 million bushels. At 84 cents, the approximate September delivery price on that date, the total value would figure about $572,000,000. The July government report placed the wheat crop at 633 million bushels. At 87 cents, the then September delivery price, the total was $551,000,000. The July 15 wheat crop estimates of private statisticians averaged 655 million bushels. At $1.44 for September delivery on that date the total figured $951,000,000."

Meanwhile, WPA aid was mapped for Kansas and Nebraska. Seven counties in Nebraska, among the 37 in six states added to the government's emergency drought list, bringing the national total to 607 in 17 states.

Montana Forest Blazes
Harre, Mont., July 28 (AP).—A crackling forest fire that claimed three lives last night spread its flames over a 25-mile front in the Little Rockies today, defying the work of hundreds of men called out to fight it.

One other was missing in the fire area, southwest of here. The three known victims were members of a U. S. Geological Survey party. They were Cameron Baker, Harre, a member of the Northwestern University faculty; John Rowles, Landusky, Mont., and S. R. Brockmeyer, Lowell, Mass., a graduate of Yale University.

It was believed Baker and Rowles perished in flames that trapped the party as it worked. Brockmeyer died last night in the Fort Belknap Indian Agency Hospital.

Dr. Knechtel (first name and initials not learned) of Washington, D. C., head of the party of five men, was found late last night suffering from burns, shock and exhaustion and was rushed to a hospital at Malta, Mont.

Dr. Knechtel told his rescuers the party was trapped when flames ran down against a rock ledge as they fought the fire, which came on them suddenly.

The missing man was known only as McCarthy, and was said to have been a student at Yale.

The bodies were to be brought here today.

The fire, described as the worst known in the Little Rockies, broke out near Lodge Pole, Mont., Saturday and for a time threatened the minor camp at Fortman, famed for its activity in the forest days.

Every available man on the Fort Belknap Indian reservation in Harre and Malta, and from the nearby mining camps and farms was pressed into service to fight the fire.

Cincinnati, July 28 (AP).—An authority on the relation of weather to human conduct came forward today with a theory that the "heat" of the United States gradually is shifting northward.

Further, said Dr. Clarence A. Cook, the world generally is getting warmer, and this fact may become a factor in birth control.

His comment followed a report of the federal census bureau in Washington that the heat deaths this year were concentrated in cities in the southern tier of mid-western states. In 1934, during the summer of that year, thousands of persons died—

Ulster County Fair To Be Held Here In Sept.

The annual Ulster County Fair will be held this year on Friday and Saturday, September 25 and 26, in the new state armory and the executive committee in charge of the fair is planning to make it one of the finest exhibits of its kind in the history of Kingston.

It was decided to hold the fair during September, rather than in August, as the later date made it possible to have a finer fruit and farm exhibit than if the fair was held at the usual time.

The premium committee are now busy working on the premium list for the fair, and it is expected that not only will there be more exhibits this year than ever before, but also that the fruit and farm produce to be displayed will be much finer than in previous years.

It is also planned to have entertainment features at the fair and a committee is busy making arrangements for that.

From present indications the annual fair will be well worth a visit this year.

Firemen Bring Out Large Sum of Money From Burning House

Members of the Kingston Fire Department saved from complete destruction the two story wooden dwelling of Mrs. Isadora Schoonmaker, 18 Boulevard, Monday afternoon, and rescued a shawl containing an amount said to range from $1,000 to $1,600, that lay on a chair in the living room.

The fire, caused, it is thought, by an oil stove out of adjustment, badly damaged the interior of the house, and scorched the siding and lower portions of the roof. Mrs. Schoonmaker, frantic about the money she knew was in the living room, wanted to run in and save it, but Postman Watson Wheeler prevented her from entering the roaring inferno.

Investigating as to how the fire started, Chief Joseph L. Murphy was told by Mrs. Schoonmaker that she was scrubbing the floor in the kitchen. She smelled smoke coming from her enclosed porch. She opened the door leading to the porch and as she did this the oil stove exploded. The flames spread to the kitchen, rapidly, and another container of oil there exploded. Mrs. Schoonmaker ran to the street.

Soon the whole rear of the house, inside, was a mass of flames. Drapes in the living room took fire, spreading it to the front of the house and the staircase leading up stairs. The flames shot out of the windows, scorching the outside of the house and the cornice along the roof.

Neighbors phoned the fire department, and also sent in an alarm from box 221. Wiltwyck House was the first to arrive and played several streams of water into the house. It was feared frame buildings nearby would take fire.

As the firemen fought the blaze, Mrs. Schoonmaker, who evidently had forgotten about her money previously, screamed and started to run into the house. Postman Wheeler caught her and saved her from serious burns or possibly a horrible death. When the firemen learned the woman in her late 50's had money in the house they made concentrated effort to save it and were successful.

Fireman Arthur Fitzgerald went into the house and picked up the bundle of money in the shawl and brought it out to Mrs. Schoonmaker. Fitzgerald has been a fireman only a few months, being one of the three men recently appointed by Mayor Heiselman and the fire board.

After the investigation by Chief Murphy the theory was advanced that a faulty or improperly adjusted burner on the oil stove in the enclosed porch probably caused it to explode, starting the fire which spread so rapidly that it did heavy damage before the firemen arrived. Chief Murphy and his men did not leave the fire until 2:45 o'clock. They were called at 2:22.

Heat In West Near
Cincinnati, July 28 (AP).—An authority on the relation of weather to human conduct came forward today with a theory that the "heat" of the United States gradually is shifting northward.

Believing that playgrounds are essential to the youth of the community in many ways, and especially when the recreational centers are properly equipped, Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman has made a step toward raising funds for furnishing the city parks with apparatus and material.

A gigantic flower show, to be arranged by Mrs. Fred P. Luther of 50 Downs street, former president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, September 15 and 16, at the Municipal Auditorium to raise money for the cause.

Mayor Heiselman attended the outing last week for the children of the Industrial Home, sponsored by the members of the paid fire department, and got first hand knowledge of the various uses and pleasures furnished by the slides, swings, merry-go-rounds, etc., at Hasbrouck Park, where the day of merriment went on.

The firemen treated the kiddies to a ride over the Minnewaska trail, Mayor Heiselman leading the motorcade, and proceeded to Hasbrouck Park upon returning to Kingston. "You go down the slide, Mayor," the little folks would say, desiring that their prominent guest enjoy the day just as they were. And the mayor went down the slide, too, and had a swing for himself.

Value Of Parks
"It is not difficult," said he after the picnic, "for one to realize how much good this park equipment does for the little ones, to afford them wholesome amusement and a chance to build themselves up physically. There should be more of it and all of our parks should be equipped to give the children in all parts of the city a real chance to play."

The children must play, and play where it is safe, free from the hazards of busy thoroughfares where their lives are endangered, the mayor concluded and at once set out on a scheme to raise money for the parks.

He called to his office two of his men familiar with the parks and their needs. City Engineer James Norton and Superintendent of Public Works David Conway. Both agreed more equipment is a crying need.

"We must raise money for this," suggested the mayor, "it is a worthy cause." Then he hit upon an idea to raise funds and at the same time afford delight and pleasure to many of Kingston's and in fact Ulster county's populace.

Flower Show Idea
A gigantic flower show would be nice, thought the first citizen, and his two engineers agreed with him. There are hundreds of flower lovers in this section who might exhibit their plants, and hundreds more, who although they have no room to make flower gardens, enjoy nothing better than looking at what others produce.

So Mayor Heiselman decided on a flower show, and that he would ask Mrs. Luther to arrange it for him. Mrs. Luther is thoroughly familiar with this type of undertaking, which calls for expert opinion and a lot of detail work. When asked by the mayor to take over the flower show, Mrs. Luther gladly consented. She is in harmony with the mayor's sentiments on equipping the playgrounds for the children, and being a lover of flowers, welcomed an opportunity to arrange a show.

Mrs. Luther, while president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, arranged the successful social set held by that prominent social set last year. Besides being a success from the standpoint of establishing strong contacts between the flower growers in the various parts of this region, it netted a substantial sum for the worthy cause that was the motive for bringing it about.

Mrs. Luther has started already to arrange for this gigantic call to flower lovers which will take place in the Municipal Auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 15 and 16. Under her expert guidance and enthusiasm, the mayor feels that the flower show will be one of the crowning achievements of the year, both as an event for the pleasure of those interested in flowers and for the cause of giving the future generation a chance to develop into the sort of citizens a community needs.

Maps Are Filed For Dam At Lackawack and New Delaware Aqueduct

County Clerk Simpson Receives Paper Showing Real Estate to be Acquired; Takings Will Include Lackawack Village.

YONKERS UNIT

Aqueduct Will Extend from Lackawack to Hill View Reservoir at Yonkers.

Further indications of the fact that New York city now means business in the matter of acquiring additional water supply in Ulster and adjoining counties and that the work is to be carried on without unnecessary delay is seen in the fact that maps have been filed showing the real estate to be acquired for the building of the Lackawack dam and the Delaware aqueduct and appurtenances.

The maps, prepared by the Board of Water Supply of New York city, and approved on July 15 by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, have been filed with County Clerk James A. Simpson.

The Lackawack takings will include practically the entire village of Lackawack, which is to become one of the vanished towns. The center line of the proposed dam, as shown on the maps will run just east of the Daniel McDole property in Lackawack and not far from the property of James Shields. The aqueduct will run from Lackawack to the Hill View Reservoir at Yonkers.

The next step in the proceedings, which are governed by law, will, according to Engineer James A. Gutteridge of the Board of Water Supply office, Kingston, be to publish the notice asking for the appointment of condemnation commissions for the purpose of acquiring the properties needed. This will probably be done within a short time. As soon as commissions are named and can get under way actual work of entering upon the properties for construction purposes will be undertaken.

It is hoped that construction work on the aqueduct may be started within a couple of months.

POLICE MAY EXPLORE FORGOTTEN TUNNEL

New York, July 28 (AP).—Anonymous letters may lead New York police to explore a forgotten railroad tunnel in Brooklyn through which trains operated 75 years ago.

Detective Captain John J. McGowan revealed yesterday three unsigned letters said if the police would investigate "The Old Atlantic Avenue Tunnel" they would find "something interesting."

McGowan never had heard of the old subterranean passage, sealed at intervals where new subway lines crossed it. The letters set him to studying old prints, maps and records but he was at a loss as to how to gain entrance.

The tube was used by the old Atlantic Avenue Railroad until 1861, when it was sealed up.

The writer of the letters gave no indication as to what police might find, but officers surmised it might have been tapped by criminals for an underground hide-out.

Fuller Shirt Factory Hires 25 New Workers, Now Employ Over 500

Assertions made at the convention here earlier this year by salesmen handling the Clermont line of shirts manufactured at the James S. Fuller, Inc., plant on Pine Grove avenue, that the concern would have a banner year, are coming to pass.

Clarence Howland, former police commissioner, and one of the officials of the concern, this morning informed The Freeman that the force of employees was increased by 25 last week and now numbers more than 500. The factory is thriving with activity and is hardly adequate to turn out the amount of orders to be filled.

At the Clermont salesmen's convention, directors of the sales force, urging their contact men to continue along the progressive lines they were following, presaged one of the best years in the history of the shirt business for their factories. Even before the convention, and ever since, orders have poured into the Fuller plant for fulfillment.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, one of the invited guests at a banquet in conjunction with the convention, lauded the salesmen for flooding the haberdashery market with shirts made in Kingston, and urged them to keep right on so that the industry might thrive here. He was promised that it would, and the promise is being kept.

Government Says Daring Raid Blasts Ammunition Dumps Out of Existence; Rebels Report Equal Victories in Provinces.

MOLA'S PREDICTION

Fascist Chieftain Predicts His Men Will Reach Madrid "Thursday or Friday."

(By The Associated Press)

Spain set out with determined bombing flights and mountain raids to hasten the demise of an 11-day rebellion today.

Artillery, too, was wheeled again into action to crush Fascist garrisons, particularly in the north.

One report said rebel holdouts in the Loyola barracks, near San Sebastian, had surrendered unconditionally, following a long siege. Fascist insurgents at Oviedo apparently still were hanging on to their garrison, but the government prepared a new bombardment.

With new and intensive aerial warfare ordered against outlying rebel garrisons in several provinces, new outbreaks of civil war rocked the mountain barriers to Madrid itself. Both the Lefist government and the Fascist rebels, marching down out of the north, claimed victory.

The Loyalists asserted a daring raid had blasted insurgent ammunition dumps out of existence. Rebel headquarters, 50 miles from the capital, announced the capture of a Guadarrama mountain village in bloody fighting, with hundreds dead and wounded.

General Emilio Mola, Fascist chieftain, predicted his men would reach Madrid "Thursday or Friday" and said a "strong military dictatorship" would follow.

His words found no support in the Lefist capital.

Government leaders claimed not only a successful defense of the capital, but said Madrid, Barcelona, Toledo, Albacete and Guadalajara were under complete Lefist domination. Victory for Loyalist troops was forecast at Cordoba, Granada, Seville, Cadiz, Oviedo and Zaragoza.

United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers, marooned at the start of the rebellion in the Biscay Bay resort of San Sebastian, informed the state department he would establish a "floating embassy" on the Cutter Cayuga to speed the task of getting Americans out of the danger zone.

Crossing the border today to Saint Jean De Luz, France, Ambassador Bowers said he had been unable to confirm reports that foreign residents at Madrid would be evacuated through Valencia.

Lefists "Getting Rough"
By ALEXANDER H. UHL
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)

Madrid, July 28.—Lefist Spain struck at a stubborn 11-day rebellion with gloves off today, sending new fleets of bombing planes to blast out insurgent garrisons and exploding rebel ammunition dumps in the Guadarrama Mountains which guard this beleaguered capital.

Intensified, terrible punishment from the air was ordered in a new attempt to sound the knell of Fascist revolt in outlying cities.

In the Guadarrama, however, government claims of successes contrasted with rebel announcements of the capture of a defended village and the prediction of the insurgent general, Emilio Mola, that his men would reach Madrid within three days.

A Lefist committee in Madrid was named to take over "necessary" industry and the government continued widespread enlistment of both men and women, even mobilizing several scores of bullfighters.

Sharp fighting was reported in the north, both in the vicinity of San Sebastian and at Oviedo, where loyal leaders took positions overlooking the city and prepared for a new bombardment.

Happy, Healthy Children

By Wm. A. McBride, Ph.D., Ph.C., B.S.
The joy and pride of parents of healthy and vigorous children are often so great that sometimes they become over confident in reckoning the amount of resistance of a child, apparently in perfect health, when subjected to any of the many communicable diseases of childhood.

Looks and even actions are frequently deceptive, and a child considered to be in the best of health may have some hidden, though perhaps slightly active ailment, sufficient, however, to make him or her peculiarly susceptible to disease germ transference.

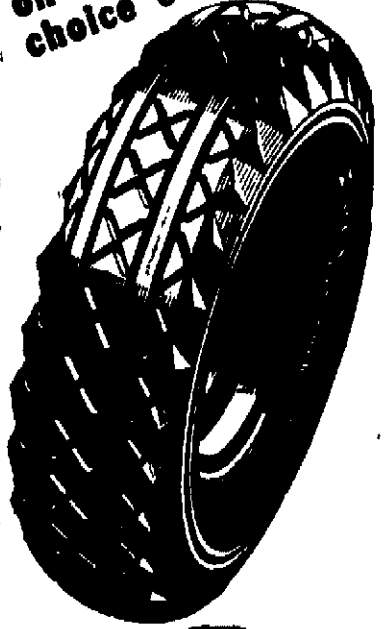

The most sane and sensible thing to do is to occasionally check with your doctor regarding the child's diet and physical condition. He will know if treatment is necessary to strengthen resistance in order to immunize the child.

Landon Pledges Jobs, Lower Cost of Government, and Aid to Farmers

80,000 Assemble to Hear Candidate Voice Plans and Criticize New Deal Incompetency.

PRAIRIE STATE GOVERNOR SPEAKS

Excerpts follow from the acceptance speech of Gov. Alf M. Landon, delivered at Topeka, Kas., July 23, 1936:

"The (1936) record shows the primary need is still for jobs for unemployed."

"Those who need relief will get it."

"Mounting debts and taxes constitute a threat to all (our) aims."

"No sound national policy will neglect the farmer... the administration has taken the American farmer out of foreign markets and put the foreign farmer into the American market."

"The right of labor to organize means to me the right of employees to join any type of union they prefer... plant, craft or industry... free from interference from any source."

"Shall we continue to delegate more and more power to the Chief Executive, or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?"

Topeka, Kas.—With all the impressive simplicity and the searching earnestness of a Lincoln, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, "a typical prairie state," made his speech accepting the Republican nomination for President July 23 before an audience of nearly 80,000 gathered at the south entrance of the Kansas state house.

His address was in reply to the official notification given him by Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, that the Republican party had conferred upon him its highest honor. Besides the wildly enthusiastic throng who filled Topeka to overflowing, Governor Landon's talk was heard by millions of radio listeners.

The first sentence of his speech accepted the honor. His second: "In accepting this leadership, I pray for Divine Guidance to make me worthy of the faith and the confidence which you have shown in me," adding: "Facing this honor and responsibility, I hope for the gift of simple and straightforward speech. I want every man and woman in this nation to understand my every word, for I speak of issues deeply concerning us all."

"Brief of Success"
Governor Landon first dealt with the social policies of relief and unemployment, declaring "The New Deal has fallen far short of success," and went on to explain his plans to correct the evils. Make the Social Security act "workable," freed from "political exploiters," he urged, and pledged his party never to neglect the obligations to the unemployed.

He next scored rising public debts and taxes and the "uncertainties" of the present administration's policies which have frightened the average American and prevented the launching of new enterprises which would promote recovery.

He rapped the New Deal with: "The most important question now before us: Shall we continue to delegate more and more power to the Chief Executive or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?"

The address concluded with a succinct series of statements as to his belief in Constitutional government and his proposals for the executive policies, if elected. Summarized, these were:

"The Republican party does not believe the people wish to abandon the American form of government."

"We propose to maintain the Constitutional balance of power between the states and the federal government."

"We propose to use the full power of the federal government to break up private monopolies."

Rights of People.
"A free competitive system is necessary to a free government."

"Neither political nor civil liberty long survives the loss of economic liberty. Each and all of these liberties, with the precious human rights which they involve, must be preserved intact and inviolate."

"I propose to restore our government to an efficient as well as Constitutional basis."

"I shall co-operate wholeheartedly with congress in an effective reorganization of government agencies, to eliminate duplication, to insure better administration, and to save the taxpayers' money."

"It is the right of our people to have their government well administered."

"There are some of the aims and proposals of a Republican administration (pledged) to conduct the public business with honesty, frugality, courage and common sense."

"I look forward to the America that is to be."

"It should be a nation in which the old wrong things are going out and the new right things are coming in."

"It should be a country which produces more and more until there is plenty for all, with a fair chance for all to earn their share."

"It should be a land in which equal opportunity shall prevail and special privilege shall have no place.

"It should be an America that shall... drive the curse of war from the earth; an America that, for the sake of all mankind as well as ourselves, shall never lose the faith that human freedom is a practical ideal."

"Everything we need for realization (of these aims) we can find within the principles under which this nation has grown to greatness."
"God grant us, one and all, the strength and the wisdom to do our part in bringing these things to pass."

Early in his address, Governor Landon pledged himself to the Republican platform with the words: "The 1936 platform has my complete adherence. It sets out the principles by which we can achieve the full national life that our resources entitle us to enjoy."

His reference to the question of how many promises the present administration has broken, was: "The citizen who assumes the direction of the Executive branch takes an oath that he will, to the best of his ability, 'preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States.' No man, in common good faith to his fellow citizens, may rightfully assume the duties of the high office of Chief Executive and take the oath unless he shall keep his oath inviolate. It is with a full understanding of the meaning of this oath that I accept this nomination."

On relief and unemployment Governor Landon committed himself to the policy: "Those who need relief will get it... We will not take our economies out of the unemployed. We will take them out of the hides of political exploiters. The whole American people want to work at full time and full pay (with) the right to live according to American standards... The (1933) record showed the primary need was jobs for unemployed. The (1936) record shows the primary need is still for jobs for unemployed... The New Deal has fallen far short of success... American initiative is not a commodity to be delivered by the pound, through some government bureau."

Governmental Intimidation.
"We must be freed from incessant governmental intimidation and hostility. We must be freed from excessive expenditures and crippling taxation. We must be freed from an arbitrary and uncertain monetary policy. We must be freed from private monopolistic control. Once these things are done, the energies of the American economic system will remedy the ravages of depression and restore full employment."

"The security of us all depends on the good management of our common affairs," was the keynote of his economic theme. "We must be able to produce and accumulate enough to finance our normal progress... Mounting debts and increasing taxes constitute a threat to all of these aims."

"Taxes add to the price of everything. By taking more out of the family purse they leave less for family security. Let us not be misled by those who tell us others will be made to carry the burden. Even if we tax to the limit those best able to pay, the average taxpayer will still have to bear the major part. For every single dollar spent, we will pay back two dollars."

People Finally Pay.
"Crushing debts and taxes are usually incurred, as today, under the guise of helping people—the same people who must finally pay them."

As to national agriculture, Governor Landon stated flatly:

"No sound national policy will neglect the farmer, because the needs of a great nation require that its food producers always stand upon a plane of living with the importance of their service." He accused the present administration of having "taken the American farmer out of foreign markets, and put the foreign farmer into the berry, and shall be blindly followed. It is time for the American people to sit up and take notice."

Reading His Speech

This hitherto unpublished picture of Governor Alf M. Landon was taken at his desk in Topeka, Kas., as he was making the final revision of his speech of acceptance.

"By Deeds Performed and Promises Fulfilled"

Topeka, Kas.—Excerpts follow from the address by Representative Bertrand H. Snell notifying Governor or Alf M. Landon of his selection as the Republican presidential nominee:

"Here and now this nation turns its back forever upon broken promises and hollow oaths!"

"The spontaneous expression of popular sentiment from coast to coast, which culminated in your nomination at Cleveland, offers eloquent testimony that your authority is rooted in the silent, secret hearts of the whole people."

"The crisis which calls you to be first among us will never yield to the sounding shibboleths of mere partisanship. You are saluted today by patriots of all parties!"

"Here in a solvent Kansas the people found a man who worked calmly amid all the noisy din of the New Deal's failures and false starts. They found a man who kept his books and the books of his government by simple, honest, old-fashioned arithmetic... a man who stood like a rock against the hallucinations of those who supposed that they could guide America to stability and prosperity by shameful political squandering of the people's substance. In this choice our people are guided by deeds performed and promises fulfilled!"

"As you set forth upon your high endeavor, carry in your heart the message of this hour:
America is with you!
America will sustain you!
America will see you through to victory!"

American market," adding: "The loss of markets both at home and abroad far outweighs the value of all the benefits paid to farmers."

He declared American farmers are "entitled to all of the home market they can supply without injustice to the consumer. We propose a policy to protect them in this right."

He declared for soil conservation, and for protection of "the wealth of the soil," for flood prevention and "national land use" programs; for "widespread ownership of medium-sized tracts," according to the Republican Homestead act; and for maintenance of "opportunity" to all in agriculture. "We shall fulfill it (the platform's) pledge to give every reasonable assistance to producers in areas suffering from afflictions," he promised, and charged the Roosevelt administration with having "gambled with the needed feed and food supplies, through its program of scarcity." It overlooked the fact that Mother Nature cannot be regulated," he said. "The time has now come (to) replace this futile program with one economically and socially right."

Right to Organize.
On the subject of labor, he recognized the rights and usefulness of organized labor, and added: "The right of labor to organize means to me the right of employees to join any type of union they prefer, whether it covers their plant, craft, or industry... free from interference from any source."

Discussing "the basic principles upon which our Nation is founded," he said: "The prime needs of men have not changed since the Declaration. The people themselves set up this government... any change which the people want they can have... But for any official or branch... to attempt such change without authority from the people, is to do an unwarranted and illegal act."

"There has now appeared the impulse to take away and hedge with the Chief Executive, without the people's consent, the powers which they have kept in their state governments or reserved to themselves. It is not my belief that the Constitution is above change. But change must come through the people and not by usurpation."

In addition to forging a new link in coast defense, a proposed bridge-tunnel project connecting Old Point Comfort with Norfolk, Va., across Hampton Roads, promises to give southern direct avenue of approach for the tourist to one of the most historic spots in Old Virginia.

Country Fair July 29 At Woodstock Library

Woodstock, July 28.—Mrs. Knauer, chairman of the tea room of the annual Woodstock Country Fair to be held Wednesday for the benefit of the library reports that almost every item for this popular feature has been donated. Among the little girls who will serve as waitresses at the tea room are Jane Cleveland, Susan Chaplin, Judy Seaton, Dorothy Orr, Elsie Knauer, George Keaton and Jean Murray.

Carl Walters has donated a piece of his pottery and both Charles Rosen and Rosella Hartman have given lithographs.

The linen table will be under the direction of Mrs. J. S. Leacycraft. John Strickel has offered to do sketches for the benefit of the fair. It is expected that many will aspire to having their likenesses perpetuated by this artist.

We know Mr. Landon as a saver in an era of spenders. That is what won him his nomination at Cleveland. That will be one of the big issues of the campaign and his record may be counted on to win him many votes.—Newark, N. J., News.

Most of our industrial troubles, says an exchange, is caused by workers who do not think and thinkers who do not work.

Evening On The Farm
When the evening shadows gather and the sun sinks in the west. When the birds in the treelops snuggle in their little nest. When the bees have ceased their buzzing and the roosters cease to crow. Comes a mooing from the barnyard and a cowbell tinkles low. Someone's washing supper dishes, horses munch hay in the barn; On the doorstep sits the farmer 'cause it's evening on the farm.

Wife—I have to watch our cook every minute.
Husband—Afraid she'll make a mistake with the cooking?
Wife—No, afraid she'll make a mistake with you, dear.

It is better to let a party fade out in dullness than to make a fool of yourself trying to pep it up.

Enemy (at maneuvers)—You are my prisoner!
Sergeant Blinks—Nonsense! How did you get here?
Enemy—Over the bridge—You're foolish! Why, you are drowned! We blew up that bridge yesterday.

Ask Mrs. Henpeck if her husband's heart is in the right place and she'll snap: "Yes, it's right in his mouth!"

A very nice old lady had a few words to say to her granddaughter: "Old Lady—My dear, I wish you would do something for me. I wish you would promise me never to use two words. One is well and the other is lousy. Would you promise me that?"
Girl—Why sure, Granny. What are the words?

When somebody tells a girl that she has dramatic talent and ought to be in pictures or on the radio, her usefulness as a cook or kitchen custodian is practically ended.

All through dinner Percy sat silent. It worried his parents. At last they began to wonder what was troubling him. The boy was doing some very hard thinking. Finally, the silence was broken by the boy: "Percy—Daddy, do school teachers get paid?"
Daddy—Of course they do, sonny.
Percy (indignantly)—Then it ain't fair. Why should the teachers get paid when us children do all of the work?

The self-admiration of some people proves that there is no accounting for tastes.

Banker—An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth is my policy. What's yours?
Insurance Man—$200 for an eye; $50 for a tooth and $1,000 for accidental death.

Early State Apples Reach Markets, Give Pep to Summer Meals

Albany, July 28.—First market arrivals of 1936 crop apples, direct from New York state orchards, have been reported by the State Bureau of Markets.

The forerunners of the Empire State crop are the varieties known as Yellow Transparent and Duchess of Oldenburg. Quality is reported as "excellent."

"New York state apples have individual flavors which make them—in my opinion—the finest apples in the world," said Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, who himself is a grower of fine fruit. "Consumers should buy apples grown here in New York state if they appreciate fruit of really fine flavor and quality."

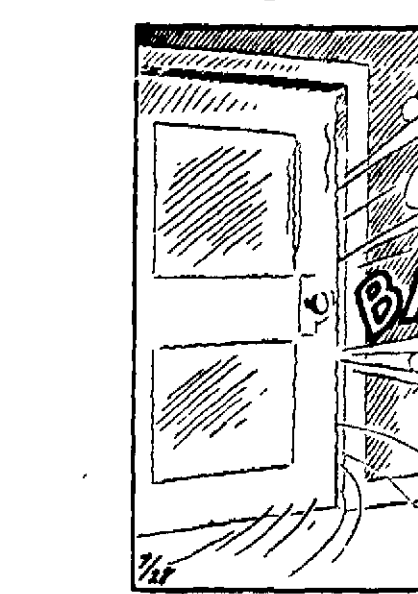

Yellow Transparents are juicy and sharply acid until fully ripe. They are recommended for cooking and are acceptable for dessert. The Duchess variety is especially good for baking and cooking, according to a new booklet just published by the

TIPS ON CONTRACT
By TOM O'NEIL

King Discarded
Many a player with a protected king would be pleased if a declarer led an ace of the suit, followed by a low card. But against a good declarer who does such a thing an alert defender will seek to deduce the reason for the lead of the ace. Perhaps the playing of the king on the ace will be the only way to defeat a contract.

Against the three no trump contract, which she had doubled, Miss Bernice Claire, a radio star, led the heart seven, the top of her partner's suit, shown by his double, rather than her own suit, spades, which she desired led to.

The defense thus took two spades, a heart, a diamond and a club, setting the contract one.

If West had played the jack of diamonds on the ace, she would have been forced into the lead with the king. Nothing but spades would have remained in her hand. A low spade lead would have given South the two spade tricks necessary for his contract. If West led the king of spades, South would let it win and then would make two spade tricks.

An exit play by West foiled South's scheme of an end play.

Events Around The Empire State

Ticonderoga, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Lake ports around Lake Champlain will get a chance to see the Philadelphia, a Revolutionary War gondola that was once part of Benedict Arnold's proud fleet.

Captain L. F. Haglund has salvaged the craft sunk by the British off Valcour Island 160 years ago and plans to restore it for a tour of the lake on a barge.

Schenectady, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—John B. Mullin, of Rochester, is the new commander-in-chief of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons of New York state. He was elected at the 67th council of deliberation held here yesterday.

Jamestown was selected for the 1937 convention of the order. Sixty-two bodies from all sections of the state were represented at the meeting.

Phoenix, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—John Roach, 34, Hinmanville fisherman, told Justice of the Peace C. Gerald Gregg that premature explosion of dynamite caused injuries which resulted in the amputation of the hand of his brother, Theophilus, 39.

Roach paid $37.50 in a civil compromise last night of charges that he dynamited fish.

Roach told Judge Gregg that the dynamite exploded as he and his brother were lowering it into Oneida Lake Saturday.

Vegetable Growers Invited to Geneva

Geneva, N. Y., July 23.—Convicted that "seeing is believing," Prof. C. B. Sayre, head of the Vegetable Crops Division at the Experiment Station here, is urging the vegetable growers in the state to plan a visit to the station vegetable plots during the summer to see at first hand the interesting results that are being obtained in the numerous fertilizer, variety and cultural tests with vegetable crops.

Prof. Sayre's invitation appears in the July issue of "Farm Research," the station's quarterly magazine, where he points out some of the things that can be seen on the station plots from now until frost.

Guides will be provided either for groups of growers or for individuals who may wish to inspect the experiments, it is said. Already several hundred pea growers and canners of peas have visited the station to see the extensive fertilizer and variety tests with peas. The pea crop has been harvested, but crops now growing in the tests include snap beans, beets, cabbage, tomatoes and sweet corn.

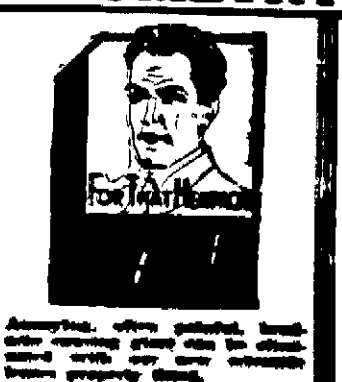

New Fertilizers Under Test.
Among the fertilizer experiments are tests of the new granulated or pelleted fertilizers compared with the old-type fertilizer; broadcast applications of fertilizer as compared with band or row placement; the best time to apply fertilizers to cabbage with comparisons of applications at two weeks before transplanting, at transplanting time, and as a side dressing two weeks after transplanting; and a comparison of different forms of nitrogen and phosphorus when played under with cover crops.

Among the cultural tests is a comparison of land prepared for tomatoes and beets in one operation with a Rototiller with that prepared in the usual way with plow, disc, harrow and cultipacker. Extensive variety trials with sweet corn, muskmelon, squash, pumpkin and tomatoes will enable the visitor to observe many of the recently introduced and newer varieties of vegetables growing alongside well-known standard sorts.

Effort at Judicial Usurpation Blocked. The judges in a big, public spelling contest ruled a boy out because he spelled "esthetic" just that way. They insisted there had to be an "i" in it, but the lad appealed to Supreme Court Judge Webster, who overruled them.

Camp Happyland Boys Entertain

Last night was a gala occasion at Camp Happyland for the 47 well-tanned and plump lads who have been at the camp for close to four weeks entertained the members of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health — responsible for the Christmas Seal sales and therefore for Camp Happyland — and other guests.

Sunset at Camp Happyland is always particularly beautiful with the commanding view of the Catskills and it was no last evening.

Before the program began, the members of the committee and guests were privileged to inspect the wonderful new recreational building which stands on an eminence north of the camp building and on almost as high ground.

A more ideal place could not be imagined for indoor play on a rainy day and for the giving of entertainments by the children than this handsome and perfectly equipped building, for the most part a labor of love on the part of many men and women. There are long benches, lockers for toys, a fine, large platform with a piano on it, electric lights, etc.

In one end of the building is the little infirmary, furnished by the Federation of Women's Clubs in memory of Dr. Mary Gage-Day, whose interest in and affection for the children who came to Camp Happyland was so deep and warm. There are two cots, all furnished for any possible little patients, even to bed lamps (electric). There is also a cot for the nurse. An inviting little Morris chair and one other comfortable chair help out with more comfort and there is a small table for such things as might be needed. A good sized wardrobe with many drawers is another convenience and everything in the way of furnishings is of such bright and cheery colorings that the place looks very gay and inviting.

While the guests were seeing these wonderful additions to Camp Happyland, Senior Counselor Willard Burke, physical director of the Highland Schools, and Harold Darling, junior counselor of the New Paltz Normal, rounded up the boys for the flag lowering, which was as always very impressive with its benediction of the setting sun. The exercises closed with the singing of one verse of America by all present and with taps being played by the children.

After that all went to the Recreational building for the entertainment. As they filed by one had a chance to get a good look at each little bright-eyed and smiling lad, and a more attractive group of boys or better behaved could not be asked for.

The program was particularly well planned, with short but most interesting recitations and songs by the boys. Master Jack Peacock of Woodstock, with a dignity befitting the occasion, acted as master of ceremonies. In welcoming the guests he said: "On behalf of the staff of Camp Happyland and the campers, we wish to welcome you here to Camp Happyland and enjoy the privilege of your company. We have prepared a short program for your benefit, consisting of some of the things we were taught here and hope that you will enjoy it." (Each number told the story of some camp activity, briefly and well).

Schlitz: "There Was an Old Woman Blerwich." "There Was a Man in Our Town." Wright: "There Was an Old Woman" (but not the same one). Milk Song by the Campers. Christians: "Girls and Boys Come Out to Play." Harder: "Old Mother Hubbard." Crespiño: "Paddies Clean." Smile Song—Campers. Carpio: "Hickory, Dickory, Dock." Hart: "Jack Sprit." Cole: "How Many Days Has My Child to Play?" "Happyland Campers." Temple: "There Was an Old Woman."

Turk: "Wool Clothes." Blerwich: "Health Creed." "I'm a Texan"—Campers. Schlitz: "Planting Trees." Caston: "Little Bo Peep." Van Kleeck: "Teeth." Christians: "Seals—Campers."

So much of the program, well given, and all telling of camp activities, was followed by a health lesson conducted by Miss Katherine Murphy, the loved leader of the camp, in which the lads promptly answered the questions put to them, hands waving in the air for the privilege of answering. They were asked to tell the guests what they had learned from the "Health Posters," and apparently not one single item was forgotten.

Nor were their bodies the only part of them to be considered. The souls they were, were cared for as well as their bodies. Each Sunday the children went to church and each morning the day was started with the prayer to their Heavenly Father. "Everything I do today I do for You." The day ended with "Please forgive my sins today because I love you, God."

Another interesting feature of the program was the telling of the story of "Alaska" in connection with the sending by airplane of toxoid for diphtheria to the sick children in Alaska, and the near-home lesson that here, when anyone is sick with diphtheria, we tell parents, our doctor and the health officer who has the toxoid all ready to make us well.

Charles Hart explained that throughout the camping period, there are several teams formed among the boys to compete for a pennant which would go to the team having the highest record, in every way, for their stay in the camp. The four teams were the Yanks, Detroit, Cleveland and Red Sox. The Yanks won and James F. Loughran, who does so much for Camp Happyland, presented the pennant to the captain of the team, Jack Peacock. The names of the boys on the team will be placed on the walls of the recreational building. The record was followed by Jack Peacock, a member of the camp, expressing their thanks to Mr. Loughran and the Ulster County Tuberculosis Committee for the new recreational hall and a very happy "good night" it was.

The program was then greatly changed, with the benches pushed wide apart, and the boys taking their places for a demonstration of the physical exercises which was very impressive in its showing of the sturdiness of each boy there.

One of the nicest things of the entire evening was a song of tribute to Mr. Loughran for all that he had done for them and the camp and the heartiness with which it was sung must have more than repaid Mr. Loughran for what he has done, as the friendship of 47 lads is about as big a tribute as one could ask for.

Another event that was well planned by Miss Murphy made each lad acquainted with the guests, for each one named, faced the guests, gave his name and the place he came from and told some one thing that he had learned at camp.

The program closed with the singing by all of "America."

Not only did the staff, which includes Miss Agnes Calahan, R. N., of the Benedictine Hospital, have a part in the events of the evening, but Mrs. Mary Wolf, the cook, Miss Katherine Corcoran, assistant in the camp, and Theresa Hofbauer, helper, had prepared ice cream and cake for serving by the boys, to the guests and their associates and to finish off Mr. Loughran had brought lollipops for everybody, and everybody, grown-ups as well as lads, enjoyed that treat.

Before the happy party disbanded a few words were spoken, appreciative and friendly, by Mr. Loughran of the tuberculosis committee; Miss Lillian Hagelweide, R. N., who conceived the idea of Camp Happyland and helped so greatly to get the idea materialized and successfully working; Dr. Fred Holcomb, superintendent of the TB Hospital, and Dr. Jacob Eisenberg, resident physician of the TB Hospital; Mrs. C. N. Reed, first vice president of the tuberculosis committee; Ray Parks, Ulster county welfare commissioner, and Mrs. Parks; Mrs. Dorothy Hoemer and Mrs. Watell of Ellenville; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Morris of New Paltz. Commissioner Parks seemed especially impressed with the entire evening's program and urged the boys to be good salesmen for Camp Happyland when they went home, telling everyone about it all and asking them to buy more Christmas seals next year so that more boys and girls could have as good and as beneficial a time as they had had.

One special word of praise is due Miss Murphy for her untiring, efficient, kindly and deeply interested efforts at all times for Camp Happyland. The healthy boys and girls throughout the county who have been at Camp Happyland are her greatest reward. In closing one would mention that one little lad, seven years old, who, a little over three weeks ago entered Camp Happyland, weighing only 27 pounds, has already gained 12 pounds and is as plump and rosy as any lad there.

New Anti-Skid Tire

One of the most important safety developments to be offered Kingston motorists for some time has just been announced by Brown's Service, Inc., Broadway. The new development is a kind of anti-skid tire that will stop a car in two-thirds the distance required by ordinary anti-skid tires on the worst kind of roads. Mr. Brown stated that in addition to its great contribution to safety, the new tire gives longer wear, more stability and has a streamlined appearance that is pleasing to the eye.

Italy Visions Place For Youth In African Sun

"HYGIENE"

DISCIPLINA

ISTRUZIONE

DOPOLAVORO

This set of postal cards, popular in Italy this summer, spreads the gospel of Fascist colonization of Ethiopia

Rome, (AP)—"Go south, young man!" So Fascism, paraphrasing Greeley, advises young Italians who would carve themselves a place in the sun of a new Roman empire.

Conquerors are becoming settlers in Ethiopia at the rate of hundreds every day, according to official sources, as Italy's occupying armies are demobilized in the field.

Peasants and the unemployed of city slums are lining up for a figurative frontier rush for the promised land like that which sent thousands of Americans rumbling westward over the prairies 80 years ago.

Three thousand foreign service posts in East Africa, the government advertises, are open to persons over 18 with the equivalent of an American grade school education or better, who speak some colonial tongue and one or more of the principal European languages besides Italian.

Appointments are offered sanitary engineers, civil engineers, mining engineers, postal and telegraph employees, veterinarians, chemists, agricultural experts, experimenters and inspectors, police, surveyors, draftsmen, political police, secret service agents, interpreters and clerks.

In addition, the government urges other young men to seek careers in Ethiopia as representatives of private Italian firms. Terms of employment, even for day laborers, provide minimum wages, free food and lodging, paid passage to Africa, compulsory savings by the workers and fare home for one-third when the contract period has been served. In the vanguard of settlers, of course, are the soldiers. Some 100,000 are expected to take advantage of the preference offered them in colonization plans. Since many of the East African troops were employed before they were called up for service, there is still incentive for them to return home if they can make a living in Ethiopia.

In preparation for the ministry of colonies' announced plan to begin sending emigrants from Italy to Africa by October, Italian agricultural researchers are combing the world this summer for new crops and methods to utilize on Ethiopian farms.

Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, viceroy of Ethiopia, already has begun a "back to work" program for natives. It was first applied to 250 war prisoners sent away by Marshal Graziani with several days' rations and this admonition:

"Those who are loyal will be happy; those who betray will be destroyed."

To Hold Flood Control Conference In East

Seeking a better understanding of the part the science of forestry plays in flood prevention and control, the American Forestry Association, the oldest conservation organization in the country, will hold its 61st annual sessions at Eagles Mere, Pa., September 9, 10 and 11. The Pennsylvania Forestry Association, observing its 50th anniversary, will meet jointly with the national association in one of the most significant conservation conferences in years.

Sharing the stage with flood control at the sessions will be recreation, one of the most important subjects in forest and land utilization today. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, W. B. Rodgers, president of the United States Flood Control Federation; Senator Joseph F. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, Gifford Pinchot, former governor of Pennsylvania, and first chief forester of the United States, and other national authorities will participate in the joint conference.

The region in which the conference will be held is ideally suited for discussion and study of both flood control and recreation. Williamsport, on the Susquehanna river, where the foresters and conservationists will flood control at a special luncheon, experienced what was probably the worst flood in its history this past spring, while North Mountain, just south of Eagles Mere, is one of the great forest recreation areas of the East.

Plans for the joint meeting calls for a series of field trips interspersed with discussions and addresses by eminent authorities. The first session at Eagles Mere, on September 9, to be devoted to a general review of forest and land conditions in Pennsylvania, will be led by H. Gleason Mattoon, president of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association. The principal speakers will be Philip W. Ayres, formerly forester for the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, and now a director of the American Forestry Association, and George H. Wirt, chief forest fire warden of Pennsylvania.

The special flood control meeting at Williamsport on September 10 will be led by James G. K. McClure, of Asheville, N. C., president of the Farmers' Federation, and a director of the American Forestry Association. The chief addresses will be made by President W. B. Rodgers, of the United States Flood Control Federation, and Senator Joseph F. Guffey.

Secretary Wallace will head the list of notable speakers addressing the conference on September 11, which also includes Dr. J. F. Bogardus, secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, and Francis R. Cope, Jr., an outstanding conservationist of Pennsylvania.

During the series of field inspection trips, which will take the foresters and conservationists into some of the principal forest areas in Pennsylvania, "World's End" and Rickety Glen, on famous Kitchener creek, will be visited. The American Forestry Association will be held at Eagles Mere on the evening of September 11.

Organized in Chicago in 1875, the American Forestry Association has been a dominant influence in forest conservation in America. Beginning in the early 20's, the educational and professional work of the association has supported virtually every forward movement in the forest conservation field. Henry Seison Graves, who succeeded Gifford Pinchot as the first chief forester of the United States, and now dean of the Yale Forest School, is its president. David Butler is executive secretary of the association.

Erection of the steel framework is about completed and the laying of brick will be started shortly. The building is being erected adjacent to the present service station of the Colonial City Chevrolet, Inc., on O'Neil street and next to the Mount Division of the New York Central Railroad tracks.

W. W. Fry Head Of Ayer Company, Dead

Wilfred W. Fry, President of N. W. Ayer and Son, Inc., and a director in many nationally known organizations, died at 7:50 a. m. on Wednesday at the Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia, following an extended illness. He was 61 years of age. His home was at 406 Penn street, Camden, New Jersey, and at Meredith, Delaware county, New York. Besides his wife, who was Anne Gilman Ayer, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Dena Fry Bree and Miss Eleanor Kemp Fry and by one son, Wayland Ayer Fry.

Mr. Fry was born in 1875 in Mount Vernon, N. Y. His parents, the Rev. Walter Fry and Eleanor A. Fry, were English blood. He spent his boyhood with his family in Otsego and Delaware counties and in 1892 entered the Mount Hermon School at Mount Hermon, Massachusetts. Upon leaving there, his interest in community welfare led him to the service of the Y. M. C. A., then in a significant phase of its development. He worked with that organization for thirteen years, occupying posts of increasing importance and contributing much through his exceptional administrative abilities toward its present social influence and financial stability.

While General Secretary of the Trenton Y. M. C. A., Mr. Fry married, in 1904, Miss Anna Gilman Ayer, daughter of F. Wayland Ayer.

In 1909, Mr. Fry came to Philadelphia to become a member of the organization of N. W. Ayer & Son. In 1922 Mr. Fry was made Chairman of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States and Canada. These years of devoted service in the cause of humanity have received their due recognition. In 1927 Mr. Fry was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by Colgate University of which institution he was a Trustee. He was also a Trustee of the Board of Trustees of Crozer Theological Seminary, and a member of the Board of Managers of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia.

In 1925 Mr. Fry received the signal honor of election to the Presidency of the American Medical College and Hospital, Philadelphia, of which he had previously been a Trustee, succeeding the late Allen B. Johnson. He was also President of the Board of Trustees of the North-South School, East Northfield, Massachusetts, comprising the Mount Hermon School for boys and the Northfield Seminary for girls.

Among those who expect to attend the meeting are County Treasurer Pratt Boice, president of the Kingston Milk Dealers Association, Harry Beatty of Kingston, Fred DuBois of New Paltz and other milk producers and dealers.

Mr. Boice said this morning that the cost of the publicity is met by a tax of one-half cent per hundred pounds of milk, on producers, and a similar tax on dealers. The money was advanced by the state, the fund being reimbursed from the tax receipts.

Americans at Madrid Still Face Perils

the north coast of Spain where and when needed." The cruiser Quincy, in addition to touching at Alicante, was expected also to investigate conditions at Barcelona and Valencia. News dispatches from Madrid indicated that five Americans had fled from the capital toward Valencia. It was assumed that these were in addition to the American nationals reported to have left the capital for Alicante.

The names of the five included Alice Atkinson of New York. A tense situation at Vigo, on the northwestern coast of Spain, led American Consul William W. Corcoran to send 23 Americans and Cubans away from there on a British cruiser.

Another group that ought to be eliminated consists of the cooks and chefs who put whipped cream on everything in hot weather.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, July 28 (AP)—Selective buying support got behind a number of issues in today's stock market while profit takers shot at some of the recent leaders.

The rally inclined toward resistance throughout as traffic volumes apparently were registering further expansion. Specialties were in demand on individual earnings forecasts. Near the final hour the activity was rather small.

The late tone was irregular. Transfers approximated 1,750,000 shares.

There was a strong spot with a gain of about 3 points. Others steady. Ahead including Great Northern, Delaware & Hudson, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Libby-Owens, Kellogg, Johns-Manville, Westvaco, Chlorine, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Kennecott, American Water Works, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Midland Steel Products, Spiegel-May-Stern, Allied Stores, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, American Telephone and Western Union.

In the lower division were General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery-Ward, Sears-Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, North American, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Goodyear, Electric Auto-Lite and Safeway Stores. A new year's low was established by U. S. Smelting with the loss of around 3 points. Cerro De Pasco was also heavy.

Bonds were rather steady and commodities mixed. Foreign currencies did little in terms of the dollar.

Grants Interlocutory Decree of Divorce

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schrick has signed an order granting an interlocutory decree of divorce in the action brought by Mary H. Steeger of 36 Gage street against Harold C. Steeger. Fowler & Connelly by N. J. Fowler appeared for plaintiff and defendant was not represented by counsel. The parties were married January 23, 1926, and by the decree plaintiff is awarded custody of the only child.

The court approves the agreement which was entered into between plaintiff and defendant whereby the defendant will pay $10 weekly for the support of the child until he reaches the age of 18 and the court also directs the payment of $125 counsel fees.

Acts upon which the action for divorce are alleged to have been based took place on July 4, 1935, near High Falls following attendance at a dance where defendant is alleged to have gone with an unknown party from Kingston. Testimony taken at a special term was to the effect that defendant had invited a stranger to go for a ride with him and his companion, William Moon.

Moon testified the three drove to Peg's Leg near Accord and danced and later returned to Stone Ridge and also visited Jones's at Stony Hollow during the night where Moon left Steeger and the unknown girl who had been picked up on Broadway earlier in the evening.
